Tim,

Thank you for the quick response, in the midst of what is obviously a busy time. I know that you just might not be able to provide support sooner, but Debbie Jordan had concerns about our process and was hoping to have a conversation with Chet about this as soon as possible.

As you know, we have a regulatory timeframe of 120 days to act on the plans, which means that our response to about 8 of our 21 plan actions are due Nov. 1. That deadline is probably impossible -- and thus meeting our ACS commitment is shot -- but we are trying to get close to meeting the regulatory requirements, because of the litigation risk. Obviously it would have been better for us to make this request weeks ago, but our own challenging navigation through this issue made it hard to solidify our approach any earlier. We feel that your input and perspective are critical for us to take the most defensible approach.

Maybe we could at least get a meeting on the books with Debbie and Chet for late next week, and then we'll try to slip in a meeting with you for whenever you can make it, but likely next Wednesday? I'll check with Debbie to make sure she is ok with waiting that long.

Thanks,
Matt
